

REVOLUTIONARY INTEGRATION

A Marxist Analysis of African American Liberation

A wealth of information about the perilous and often horrific circumstances of African Americans as they/we struggle to gain the most basic of human rights. I was stunned to read of the lesser known, yet huge, contributions by Black women, lesbians, and gays... Connects the disenfranchisement of Blacks in America and the rabid, rampant Capitalism which characterizes our every experience.

Laura Love

acclaimed singer-songwriter and African American feminist

Captures the rich diversity of forces involved in the revolutionary struggle for Black freedom... It reveals the dialectical interdependence of the civil rights movement and the labor movement in both the North and the South. Reaffirms the necessity for forging a strong link between a worker-led antiracist movement and an interracial struggle to end the exploitative capitalist order.

Melvin Leiman

Marxist economist, author of The Political Economy of Racism

This is an important resource book for college/university/public libraries as a source of information on specific movements, events, persons. Ideologues will view it as a bible; practitioners will use it as a reference.

Preston Wilcox

Harlem grassroots community defender, historian, educator

$17.95 u.s.

$24.00 Canada

$28.00 Australia (incl. GST)

Red Letter Press

www.redletterpress.org

ISBN 0-932323-22-7 $17.95

5 1795

9 780932 323224